Murder at Galena.

Monday night Ben Jones, foreman of the Windle barns at Galena, was knocked in the head by Will Boston, a negro, and robbed. Jones was asleep on a cot at the time, and Boston used a piece of 2x4 scantling to do his murderous work with. The negro was caught and the money found in his mouth, where he tried to make the officers believe it was a chew of tobacco. The murder was so cold blooded a mob formed to lynch the negro, but he was taken to Columbus in an automobile and the mob was foiled.
